

After School Mini Tennis Program 2016

Health + Fitness + Fun make sport excellent choice

Is it any wonder that scientists and physicians around the world view tennis as the most healthful activity in which children can participate? While other sports can provide excellent health benefits and some can promote mental and emotional growth, none can compete with tennis in delivering overall physical, mental and emotional gains to those kids who play.

All these benefits make tennis the ideal sport for kids to learn early in life. What parent wouldn't want their child to have these advantages?
